- What do I want to learn or understand better?

Now that we have started to write and add user stories and epics to our backlog I want to make reasonable tasks to divide the stories and thereby make it easier to follow and complete them. It is not always clear to me how small the tasks should be but it is something that should become more clear with time.

- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

Considering this week, I shared my experience with the MVVM Android design pattern and useful links with code examples for the other group members to read up on. In the upcoming week we can hopefully implement this correctly.

- What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

As said before I want to become better at writing tasks to the user stories. By doing this I will also help the group with archiving a smoother sprint and thereby a smoother use of Scrum.

- What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

This week I helped with the class-diagram, ER-schema for the database and information about the MVVM design pattern. Also with the writing of user stories to the backlog.
